

Stop interrupting

Shirley: I can tell you a story or two about growing old disgracefully! Just the other day I saw a man with a comb-over - they call it a barcode these days...

Morag I go on so many cruises that the crew say, "Welcome home," when I arrive on-board these days. When I get home my family just say, "Who are you?" or "Been skiing again?"

Group: What's wrong with that? Your money!

Shirley: Stop interrupting! Anyway, as I was saying; this guy with the barcode had sweated after he put on his Grecian 2000...

Pat: My children think it's disgraceful that my new boyfriend is only 25! I met him online and he's gorgeous. (shows photo)

Group: Why not – it's your life! Go for it!

Sandra: What's wrong with a couple of tats these days! I don't want to get left behind.

Shirley: Stop interrupting! ...This guy had what looked like boot polish running down his cheeks and merging with...

Bobbie: (holding whisky bottle aloft) I don't think this is disgraceful! They used to prescribe it for nerves when I was a girl. Nothing wrong with a little drink before brekkie.

Shirley: "Stop interrupting! I was going to say that he still had mutton-chop sideburns from the seventies. When I looked a bit closer I saw that it was Harley Dreghorn who I used to have a crush..."

Sue Su: Anyone for rugby? I'm getting a team together – the over 40s.

You can count me in. Yeah that sounds good! I'm in, etc.

Shirley: ?

Sue: Recites her poem

We all stand up and take a bow.
